WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT HORSE RELATED ACTIVITIES

Protective Attire:

- 1) To prevent injuries, you are required to wear a well-fitted helmet, hard hat or similar equestrian protective head gear which fastens securely under the chin, while working around or riding horses.
- 2) You are required to always wear hard-soled, fully enclosed shoes or boots and socks to protect feet, and long pants to protect legs while working around or riding horses. Shirts with sleeves are also advised.
- 3) You are asked not to ordinarily carry food treats for horses in the pockets of your clothing as you could be bitten by a horse looking for a snack.

The Nature and Physical Characteristics of the Horse:

While domesticated, well trained horses are usually obedient, docile and affectionate, it is important to understand that their survival instincts are what has allowed them to survive from prehistoric time to the present day.

- 1) You are advised that horses are unpredictable by nature, with minds of their own, as are all animals both domestic and wild. The horse is excitable, high strung, and nervous by nature. Horses are extremely strong and physically powerful. Horses are extremely heavy weighing from 600 to 1,300 pounds on the average. (That means some horses weigh even more than 1,300 pounds!) These characteristics deserve a human being's utmost respect and caution.
- 2) You are advised that when a horse is frightened, angry, under stress or feels threatened, it is the horse's Instinct to jump forward or sideways and to run away from danger at a trot or gallop at speeds up to 35 miles per hour.
- 3) You are advised that if a horse is frightened or feels threatened from behind, it may kick straight back, sideways in either direction or even forward with either of its hind legs with tremendous force.
- 4) You are advised that if a horse is frightened or feels threatened from something or someone above it or on its back, it may hunch its back and buck in a way that could throw a rider to the ground with great force. A fall from a horse will usually be from a height of 3 to 6 feet.
- 5) You are advised that if a horse is frightened or feels threatened from the front, it may naturally react by rearing up with its front legs, strike with one or both front legs, bite with its teeth. throw its head up or from side to side or run directly over whatever it fears in front of it.
- 6) You are advised that a human must always approach a horse calmly and quietly and cautiously, preferably from near its shoulder or lower neck while talking soothingly to the horse.
- 7) You are advised that loud and/or sudden unexpected movements, dropping of or waiving of objects near a horse, approaching vehicles or animals or people, ill-fitting equipment or physical pain can provoke a horse to react according to its natural protective instincts.
- 8) You are advised that the first signs of anger or fear in a horse are the sudden tensing of the muscles of the body, possibly laying its ears flat back against its head, or quickly tossing or raising its head, swishing its tail or sudden snorting through the nostrils accompanying at least one other warning sign.
- 9) You are advised that a horse can see independently with each eye, actually looking in one direction with one eye on one object somewhere in front of it. Usually the direction the ear is pointing will tell an observer where the eye is looking on the same side, and consequently what the horse is probably concentrating on at the moment.
- 10) You are advised that a horse has two blind areas where it cannot see. A horse cannot see directly behind it, nor what it is eating. This is the reason it is best to approach a horse close to the shoulder, and never to surprise a horse from the rear or to reach first for the horse's mouth.
- 11) You are advised that while a horse is very sure-footed by nature, it may accidentally step on an object such as a human foot when it is balancing itself or turning about. Due to the horse's vision limitations, sometimes it simply may not see where your feet are and my step onto your foot. Also, if a horse is ridden or worked on unstable ground or slippery grass or other poor footing, or simply take an awkward step, it could fall down injuring a rider or handler. A horse might even fall onto the rider or handler.

As evidence that you have read the foregoing, please write out the following statement on the lines below: "I have read and I do understand the above warnings concerning protective attire and the nature and physical character of the horse."

PROGRAM SAFETY AND PARTICIPANT CODE OF CONDUCT

These are a hands-on programs involving specialized equipment and/or live animals. Appropriate participant behavior and the following of instructions by clinicians and staff are critical to program safety. The following safety guidelines will be strictly enforced. Failure to follow these requirements may result in your forfeiting your right to participate in the program being conducted as well as to participate in future programs.

1. Safety of participants and animals shall be the first priority at all times.
2. ALL participants working with animals and/or participating in technical rescue exercises shall wear appropriate helmets.
3. ALL participants working with animals and/or participating in technical rescue exercises shall wear appropriate clothing and closed, hard sole shoes or boots.
4. No participant shall handle any animal or be in a pen with any animal unless supervised by an instructor.
5. Activities may be stopped at any time by any instructor, safety officer or program staff member. All participants shall immediately exit the activity area when requested to do so. (Being requested to stop and exit does not necessarily mean that the participant requested is doing something wrong, but that a safety problem exists and activities must stop until program safety is secured.)
6. Persons not registered as hands-on participants and/or who have not submitted properly completed release forms shall remain in designated viewing areas.
7. Children who are not strictly supervised, dogs and other potential disruptions are not permitted. Accommodations will be made for persons having legitimate service animals, where appropriate, in order to maintain program safety.
8. Any participant who disrupts the program or jeopardizes the safety of the participants and/or animals will be asked to leave.
9. Any participant asked to leave that refuses to do so will be removed by a Deputy Sheriff.
10. In the event a participant is expelled from any program for cause (e.g., violating these Rules of Conduct), neither Least Resistance Training Concepts, Camelot Premises, nor the Bureau of Land Management are under any obligation to reimburse said participant for any costs or expenses, including but not limited to costs for travel and lodging and registration, that may be claimed by the participant.
11. Persons who have been disruptive, failed to obey valid instructions and requests, or who have given us credit problems (e.g., passed bad checks) in previous events will not be registered for this event.

LEAST RESISTANCE TRAINING CONCEPTS, INC.
POLICY REGARDING MINORS AT WORKSHOPS AND PROGRAMS
(Required for all minors present)

Technical Large Animal Rescue training programs do carry some inherent risks, particularly when live animals are involved and when highly technical rescue scenarios are being conducted. We recognize the value of older minor children observing and participating in these activities where appropriate. Therefore, minor children may be permitted to attend provided their conduct is appropriate for the activities taking place and they do not present safety risks to themselves or other participants.

Children at Workshops and Technical Programs (in general):

1. No unsupervised children will be permitted inside the facility, near the corrals containing animals or near training activities.
  - a. Supervised means that a responsible adult will be with the children at all times and can remove them to an appropriate area if they become bored and disruptive.
  - b. Supervised does not mean that other program participants will be enlisted to supervise and care for another person's children.
2. All children inside the facility, near the holding corrals or near training activities shall behave in a manner that is not disruptive or unsafe or they shall be immediately removed to a location that does not impact program activities.
  - a. Running, throwing objects, shouting, trespassing into restricted areas and similar behavior in the Premises and near horse corrals or training areas are not permitted and violators will be instructed to leave the facility immediately.

II. Children Participating in Workshops and Technical Programs:

This is an adult program however we recognize that some minors have sufficient experience and maturity to register as participants in the program. The following rules apply to minors who wish to be participants.

1. Except when approved by the Program Director or Lead Instructor, no minors under the age of sixteen shall be permitted inside or proximate to any training pens or potentially risky technical exercises.
2. A responsible parent, guardian or approved supervising adult shall be present at all times when any minor registered as a participant is inside or proximate to any training pens or engaged in technical exercises.
3. The participation of minors shall be limited to activities that the instructors determine are safe and appropriate under the circumstances.

III. Enforcement of Rules:

1. Minors, either participating or observing who are disruptive will have to leave the premises in the custody of a parent or guardian.

I HAVE CAREFULLY READ THIS POLICY AND FULLY UNDERSTAND ITS CONTENTS. I'M AWARE THAT THIS IS A CONTRACT BETWEEN MYSELF, LEAST RESISTANCE TRAINING CONCEPTS, INC, AND ROCKY CANYON RESCUE (Kerry Tuckett), AND I SIGN IT OF MY OWN FREE WILL.
